

Media consolidation is an issue that requires a genuine debate with participation from both Congress and the general public. It is up to FCC Chair Michael Powell to ensure that this debate takes place. Staging a vote on media consolidation this Monday is both irresponsible and reckless.